

Stand

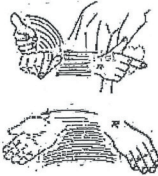

Here

this

I know

Don't know

Sit

PLAINS INDIAN SIGN LANGUAGE (PISL) “HAND TALK” EVENTS

Experience an evening exploring the beauty, history, and importance of Plains Indian Sign Language (PISL), a traditional form of communication that transcended spoken languages across tribes and remains deeply tied to Indigenous identity, culture, and resilience.

Learn how PISL:

- Bridges communication across Native languages
- Enhances Indigenous language learning through action and movement
- Supports master-apprentice, Montessori, and immersion methods

When & Where:

Central Wyoming College, Health & Science Building, Room 100

Wednesday, December 3, 5:30–8:30 p.m.

Friday, December 5, 9:30–10:30 a.m.

Friday, December 5, 11:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

Who Should Attend:

Students, faculty, staff, and community members interested in Indigenous languages and cultures.

Lunch provided. Free, everyone welcome

